

Editor's Comment:

I sincerely recommend that this paper should be published. My reasons are:

1. The main ideal addressed is important.
2. It is a current issue in research.

However, I suggest that authors should make serious recommendation for further studies based on gaps in literature. I say this because the paper is addressing a major environmental problem, it will be nice the authors fish out areas of need that researchers should focus in other to solve this ecological problem. Of a truth, the authors mentioned that "global warming and air pollution can both be rapidly reduced with universal particulate emission controls and the immediate halting of jet-sprayed particulate aerosols", but this is not enough. They should please make recommendation to guide interested researches.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Emmanuel Ikechukwu Nnamonu
Lecturer, Department of Biology, Federal College of Education, Eha-Amufu, Nigeria