

Editor's Comment:

I have evaluated all the files attached with the manuscript folder.

Authors have given adequate feedback to reviewers' comments and have revised the manuscript accordingly.

However there is a small revision they did not effect.

The statement "There was a significant relationship between time to first breast feed and administration of prelacteal feeds ( $p = 0.000$ )" is not clear. Authors should clearly state the type of relationship they observed in the abstract and main body result sections.

The paper should be accepted for publications when authors effect the revision.
