PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is an improvement but the paper still requires some more editing by a person good at English. • Line 17, in the abstract, the author uses the word frequently used without any numerical values shown. Frequency should be presented using numbers in brackets. • Materials and methods: I am still not contented with the research instruments but I won't give any more comments since they don't differ from what I commented in the initial paper. • Results: It is good that the results were summarised in table format because this summarised the raw data from the field. However, this meant the mouth full narratives that follow right below should either be reduced or removed completely. Otherwise retaining them would mean that the data is still raw and no thematic analysis and coding has been done. A small text to throw some light on what is in the table in just enough and this should come before the table its self. This is just a suggestion.
